Background & Objective

The current version of the Uniform Rules for Demand Guarantees (URDG 758) entered into effect 1 July 2010. Since then, a variety of questions have arisen regarding the international standard practices of banks when applying the URDG 758. To address these and to ensure the URDG 758 remains a viable rule set, the International Chamber of Commerce (ICC) decided to draft the International Standard Demand Guarantee Practice for URDG 758 (ISDGP), similar to the ISBP for the UCP 600. The ISDGP's intention is to explain the best practice for all events that may occur throughout the lifecycle of a Bank Guarantee. This includes: advice for an instructing party entering into a reimbursement agreement with a guarantor; tips on drafting DGs; amendment crafting; content that should be provided in a drawing; standards for drawing examination; insights on payment timelines; guidance on amount reductions; parameters for transfer of beneficiary rights; and fraud.

The focus of this ICC Austria online training is to familiarize participants with the new ISDGP and highlight the most crucial areas that the ISDGP seeks to clarify.
