Who is it for

- ▶ Trade finance product managers and operations specialists
- ▶ Correspondent Bankers/Financial Institutions
- ▶ Corporate Beneficiaries and Applicants
- ▶ Government Beneficiaries
- ▶ Legal counsel and in-house lawyers advising clients in trade and finance

Programme

- ▶ Identify key legal risks arising in demand guarantees and standby letters of credit (SBLCs) including clauses that can negatively impact issuer, applicant, and/or beneficiary
- ▶ Understand the importance of jurisdiction. What laws and form apply and what might be the outcome?
- ▶ What about injunctions? Explore current trends and the management of injunction risk, including: the fraud exception, the independence principle, customer indemnities, and avoiding litigation

What is it about

This focused online-training explores the most pressing legal and risk issues in demand guarantees and standby letters of credit.

Through case-based discussion and expert insights, participants will gain a clear understanding of enforceability challenges, the impact of local legal systems, and the conditions under which courts may intervene — especially in cases involving fraud or injunctions. Whether you're issuing, advising, or relying on these instruments, understanding legal pitfalls is key. This training equips you to manage risks, avoid disputes, and apply URDG 758 and ISP98 with confidence.

Our expert

Lorna Strong, Assoc. Programme Director, MSc Law & Finance, London School of Economics (LSE), has worked in law and finance for more than 25 years, including over 10 years as Managing Director and Global Lead counsel for HSBC Global Trade, a business that annually facilitates over USD740 billion of trade with access to 90% of all global trade flows.
